A NOTE TO OUR RDC RESEARCHERS

Hello, researchers! While Western has lifted its mask mandate, Statistics Canada is still operating under masking policies. As such, we ask that you continue to mask within the RDC aside from being seated at your workstation. Additionally, while we are still using our booking system, we do welcome drop-ins at this time. With activity increasing as of late, booking a slot is still, however, the best way to ensure we will have space for you. If you are unable to make your slot, or you are running late, please let us know as this will allow us to better accommodate all researchers. Thank you!

BOOKING PROCEDURES

In the RDC, we continue to operate mostly on a booking schedule. Here are some important tips:

- Researchers are able to book a number of workstations all day. This can be done through the booking site, or you can email the Analysts at rdceuwo.ca to inquire about having one of us book this for you.
- Researchers should always aim to arrive to their booking within 20 minutes of it beginning. Please let us know if you are running behind, and if you are finishing early. Additionally, please let us know if you need to cancel an appointment.
- Bookings for the following week appear exactly 1 week prior and remain open until 24 hours before the beginning of the slot.

RESEARCHER ROLE CALL

Researchers! We are looking for publications and upcoming research to include in our newsletters. If you have any of the following, please send us an email at rdceuwo.ca to be included in an upcoming newsletter:

- Manuscripts in progress or published using StatCan data this year
- Upcoming events featuring StatCan data, or research using StatCan data

Helpful TIPS

Remote Meetings in the RDC

Is one of the researchers on your project from out of town/unable to come in and look over your results before submitting?

No problem.

Ask one of the analysts if you can set up a phone meeting with other members of your team to virtually go over your findings together and skip additional output requests by signing an attestation.

See analysts for details.
